ABOUT ME

I am a creative storyteller and project coordinator building a path into animation production. My background crosses technology, operations, performance, teaching, and original story development. I love both imagining ideas and doing the behind-the-scenes work that helps a team bring them to life.

WHAT PULLS ME TOWARD ANIMATION

The part I love most is the beginning: when a character, scene, or story is still only an idea. I naturally start imagining what it could become, how it should feel, and what pieces need to come together to make it real.

PRODUCTION

Scheduling, tracking, documentation, follow-up, clear team communication.

STORY

Character ideas, original concepts, emotional beats, themes, visual references.

CREATIVE PRACTICE

Drawing, voice, acting, creative coding, and experimenting with how stories are presented.

TARGET ROLES

Production Assistant • Creative Production • Development / Story Support

THE PRODUCTION SIDE

My professional experience taught me how to keep moving pieces visible, communicate clearly, and make sure details do not disappear between people or teams.

WINGMAN TECHNOLOGY

Administrative Operations Coordinator | 2026-Present

- Coordinate schedules, service needs, follow-up, documentation, and cross-team communication across changing priorities.
- Track deliverables, materials, project details, and field-team information while keeping managers aligned.

DEFENSE UNICORNS

Software Engineering / Project Support | Remote | 2021-2024

- Supported distributed teams through project documentation, status tracking, deadlines, testing, and technical collaboration.
- Worked independently in a fast-moving remote environment and communicated blockers, changes, and project needs clearly.

ADAL SCHOOL

Scratch Programming Instructor / Community Program | 2026

- Lead creative coding activities for children ages 6-12, including games and animation-based projects.
- Prepare materials, guide student projects, and collaborate with families and volunteers.

HOW I WORK

1

UNDERSTAND

What is the goal, deadline, owner, and next decision?

2

ORGANIZE

Turn scattered information into a clear list, schedule, or tracker.

3

FOLLOW THROUGH

Watch dependencies, missing details, changes, and handoffs.

4

COMMUNICATE

Give concise updates and surface blockers before they become surprises.

5

CLOSE THE LOOP

Confirm completion, document what changed, and leave the project

TOOLS + WORKING STYLE

Google Workspace • Microsoft Office • Excel • GitHub / GitLab • remote collaboration • technical systems • fast learner

WHAT I BRING TO A STUDIO

A production mindset with creative empathy: I can care about the story and still care about the schedule, notes, handoffs, and details that help the creative team do its best work.

STORY + ORIGINAL IP

4TYPE Creator • Story & Character Development • Animated Project in Development

4TYPE is an original animation concept centered on identity, textured hair, beauty standards, social pressure, and belonging. It represents the kind of work I am most excited by: character-driven stories rooted in real experiences that can become visually expressive and emotionally memorable.

VISUAL DEVELOPMENT PRACTICE

Graphite character and portrait studies focused on faces, expression, hair, silhouette, and personality.

WHAT I LIKE TO DEVELOP

- Character personality + emotional point of view
- Story themes + meaningful details
- Visual references + design ideas
- Scenes, moments + how they should feel

WHY THIS MATTERS FOR PRODUCTION

I want to understand both sides of the pipeline. My creativity helps me understand what artists and storytellers are trying to protect, while my coordination background helps me organize the work around that vision.

VISUAL + VOICE WORK

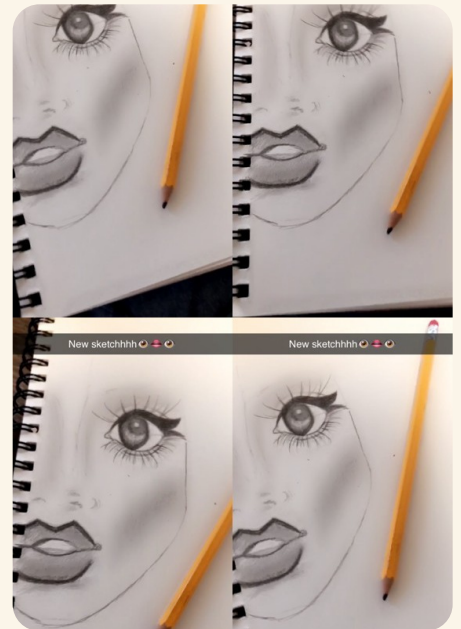

I bring creative interests outside of project coordination too. Drawing, acting, voice work, and creative technology all shape the way I think about character and storytelling.
